taken over from the geological survey by the boundary commission on September 11, 1900, measurement No. 1 heing taken that day. In the four preceding years the geological survey had taken altogether it measurements, or 10 per year.

The station is now in charge of Geo. W. King, county surveyor of Socorro county. He is mid by the boundary commission and reports to the consulting engineer thereof. He made measurement No. 1244 resterday—an average of over 100 per year since the commission had the station.

In order that the reclamation service may have limely warnings of floods while construction work is going on at the Engle dam, Mr. King is instructed to wire daily the local office of the service here an estimate of the discharge for that day.

Heights at Stanton Street Bridge.

The flood of May 27, 1897, just fouched the floor of the Stanton street bridge at the south end (The bridge has since been raised.) This was the flood which broke the canal heading and flooded the lower part of El Paso, coming as far north as the county juli. During the winter of 1897-3 the belt line track and levce was built, confining the water to the inner channel. When the much smaller flood of 1898 come carrying only 60 percent as much as that of 1997, the water at Stanton street bridge was 0.37 foot (nearly inches) higher than in 1897. This was because the water was confined to the river channel.

The Cutoff Built.

The Cutoff Built.

The Cutoff Built.

During the spring of 1899 the "cutoff" below El Paso was made, shortening the river some four miles. No large flood came until that of June 21, 1905, when 1000 feet more was passing than in the disastrons flood of 1807. Owing to the scour and increased velocity due to the cutoff, the water at stanton street was 42 feet lower than in 1897. Again come along a long conlinued accuring flood in June. 1905, when there was 40 percent more water than in 1857, but the highest point reached at Stanton street was 6.2 feet lewer than in 1891.

The 1903 and 1905 fleods started the river to eroding its banks and lengthening itself again, so lessening the effect of the cutoff. When the flood of July 25, 1911, of 10,200 feet came, its hispest point at Stanton street was only 4.5 feet lower than the 1897 flood.
This indicates a fill of between four and five feet since 1905. Monday the river was just about the same height at Stanton street as in 1911, with the same amount of water flowing, thus showing that there has been no filling during the past year.

Mississippi's Malarial regions held no terrors for Mr. R. B. Powell, so long as he used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as directed.

It is hard to conceive of a man improving in health and appearance where so many had malaria. Read the experience of R. B. Powell, who kept himself free from malaria, chills and fever while in the most infected sections of the United States.

"Twelve years ago my business brought me to the Mississippi bottoms. I had just recovered from a long spell of sickness and I feared I would not be able to withstand another attack. I found much chills and malaria fever among the people and it was impressed upon me that I must take something to keep my system in such good condition that disease would not be able to gain a foothold, or I could not stay in the bottoms. I purchased a case of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and began using it as directed. I soon found it so thoroughly agreed with me and so assisted in digesting everything I ate that I never had any use for any other medicines. I improved so much in the malaria district that when I came home my best friends scarcely knew me. I have kept Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in my home since and though I am now 58 years of age, can do as much hard work as any man. I sincerely recommend it to all my friends." R. B. aids and improves digestion. Therein lies one of the most important reasons why it is so valuable. All the nourishment in the food caten is assimilated and taken into the blood and the whole system, in consequence, becomes stronger and more able to ward off disease. Instead of the body being an easy victim to sickness, it gains in strength and vigor.

cation of Amendment Providing For Direct Election

Phoenix, Ariz., May 28.—Bills were introduced in the senate to regulate the practice of medicine and for making $750 appropriation and donating lands for the Tempe Normal. In the house bills providing for the assessment of untaxed property, fixing the time for opening and closing polls at elections, providing for registration of births and deaths, and for a general registration of voters were introduced. The house recommended the ratification of the amendment to the federal constitution providing for the di-objected and the bill was laid over for one day.

The semimonthly payday bill was then taken up for final consideration and was passed, 15 to 2.

Next in order was the receipt from committee of the legislative research bill. It was reported favorably.

Then the senals went into committee of the whole with senator Hubbell in the chair, for the consideration of the bills relating to the inheritance fax, to pandering, and for smending the constitution permitting cities to issue bonds to the amount of 15 percent of their taxable property in cases where the proceeds are to be expended on municipal improvements.

The inheritance tax measure went to the enrolling and engrossing committees the enroling and engrossing committees under suspension of the rules and the bill relating to pandering was referred to the judiciary committee.

Just here it may be mentioned that bills permitting cities of more than 3.500 population to adopt charters, relating to the licensing of foreign corporations, relating to the organization of corporations, and the three cent fare bill are all now in the hands of committees and swill be for further consideration early this week. It was announced in the senate that the attorney general had rendered an opinion to the auditor and that if the attaches are to be paid for work done in the interim between adjournment of the regular session and the beginning of the special session, the matter would have to be taken care of by the legislature. Municipal Regulations.

When W. M. Whipple, representative from Gila county, introduced a joint resolution declaring it the sense of the Arizona legislature that there should be a stale, county and precinct election the coming fall, the things the house did to that resolution were a shame. The pounced upon it, tossed it about like a football, puctured it with the dagger of ridicule and then, when they thought it had received adequate punishment, they faid the remains on the table.

It looks—it really looks, as though there will be no election this fall—that is, no election of state, county and preclent officers. It looks as though governor Hunt's recommendations are to be disregarded. It looks as though the governor's interpretation of the constitution is to be treated with lordly contempt. Silly, absurd, preposterous, are some of the adjectives applied to the unlucky Whipple resolution.

He said the law would be expensive and he was in doubt whether any aggrieved person could ever recover under it. It was too general in its terms, he thought, and would be a detriment rather than a help to the laboring people.

Senator Davis's bill providing for conferring upon cities the right to sell real estate, was the only bill not retered directly to committee upon its introduction. Senator Roberts raised the point whether the bill coincided with any subject contained in the governor's call. Mr. Davis said it was under the section relating to an extension of the powers of municipalities and for that reason thought it perfectly proper for consideration at the present session. Continuing from the point at which his story was interrupted Saturday, the old soldier said that at his first visit to Franklin's office, the latter had told him to be careful how his wife spent the money if the deal went through. "I told him" said Lockwood, "that my wife would be the last person I would want to know about it."

The witness testified that he went to the district attorney's effice next and told him what had happened. Offered Him $4000.

On this day Franklin made another visit to Lockwood's farm. Franklin told him that his name had been drawn as a juror in the McNumara trial and said to him, the witness testified. "George, there is $4000 in it for you and I want you to have it."

Feigning to accept the proposition, though with reluctance, Lockwood said that he expressed fear that the money would not be paid him and Franklin, he said, declared, "Well, Fit talk the matter over with Clarence Darrow, and he'll fix it." Did Not Intend To Be Bribed. Franklin then agreed to came the next day and talk it ever. Lockwood said that at that time he had no intention of allowing himself to be bribed.

"State whether you were acting with the knowledge and advice of the dis-trict attorney," directed Fredericks. "I was," said the witness. Lockwood then told of another conference with the district attorney and of a visit to his house by Capt. Fredericks detectives S. L.
